A Program for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Youth

Expression of Interest

An exciting new youth mentor program is coming to your area! AMPED runs throughout the school term and is based on site in your school. The program is for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander youth between the ages of 9-11yrs.

We are excited to be able to offer this exclusive program free of charge to your students and families. This form can be submitted to Relationships Australia South Australia to register your interest in having the program located at your school. We deliver from four sites per year and request that you are able to meet the following requirements:

- Access to a suitable and consistent space (music or class room).
- Support from the school ACEO throughout the program to work alongside the mentors and staff where required to ensure best supports for students and families.
- Ability to permit students enrolled into the program to attend the group during the allocated school study period times.
- Working Better with Nunga Kids training via the Institute of Social Relations will be offered for up to two staff from the school who will work alongside the program. This is a 1 day training that will be delivered in the Northern RASA office. All staff involved in the program will complete this training day together prior to the commencement of the group.

The program team will work closely with the hosting school to ensure the best fit for students and families. The ACEO will be requested to nominate students to the program up to 10 young people. However, the mentors and staff will conduct assessments with each of the nominated families to determine suitability and caregiver permission will be required for students to attend.

To register your expression of interest please complete the following information and return via email to m.ruthen@rasa.org.au. If you are accepted as a delivery site, a full information pack will be forwarded to be approved by your principal, ACEO and contact person.
